

Patrick Bourdet, founder and former Chairman and CEO of AREVA Med (Orano Med) takes an equity stake in TrisKem International

Bruz, TrisKem international Head Office, March 30, 2018.

Patrick Bourdet, currently a member of TrisKem International's strategic management committee, has decided to buy into the company's capital.

"We are delighted to welcome Patrick as a TrisKem equity holder: he will be a major asset to our boardroom. Patrick will bring along his long-standing experience in the nuclear industry, his expertise and his extensive vision of the radio-pharmaceutical market, and will make a concrete contribution to TrisKem's development in the years to come".

Michaela Langer, President of TrisKem

Patrick Bourdet was interviewed by Tatiana Semenova, TrisKem's Communication Officer, on March 30, 2018.

Mr. Bourdet, why did you join the TrisKem board?

"Joining the TrisKem International board is definitely an honor as far as I'm concerned. The various strategic committee meetings I have attended have shown me the full extent of the company's expertise, dynamism and ambition. I have always been aware of and interested in the areas that TrisKem specializes in, and I'm convinced of the added value that its products and solutions can provide to its clients, particularly in the radio-pharmaceutical, environmental and decommissioning sectors. Becoming an equity holder is my way of showing my faith in TrisKem, in the company's teams and in its increasingly favorable prospects for the future."

What will be your role within TrisKem?

"I will continue to sit on the strategic management committee and will now be a member of the Executive Committee, as well as an equity holder. I will therefore be more directly and more generally involved in the company's operational aspects".

How do you see TrisKem's future?

"Since its foundation in 2005, TrisKem has built up a unique level of expertise and has seen a constant and remarkable development. Thanks to its positioning on very high-potential markets, the company can look forward to strong growth over the next few years. The company has robust fundamentals and I'm delighted to be on board and looking forward to a bright future with TrisKem International and its teams".